Narrative Celebration

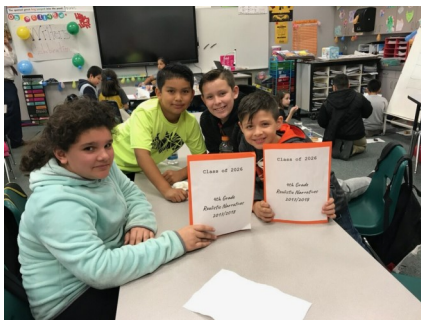

Today a 4th grade classroom celebrated an important accomplishment worthy of recognition.

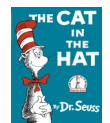

Students have been working on writing a narrative story for a few weeks as part of our Writing Units of Study curriculum here at Castle Rock. Today they celebrated the completion of their own stories. They published and read their stories to their classmates. Students were so proud of the work they had accomplished and rightfully so. We are all looking forward to helping all our students become their own grade level authors.

Way to go wildcats!
